

Chamber plans annual meeting

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce started off the new year with plans for their February 2 Annual Meeting, which is slated for 6:30 p.m. at the Empress Banquet Room. A nominating committee headed by Past President Millie Orr is beginning their search for the new executive, while outgoing President Louise Crane is in charge of finding a guest speaker.

Membership fees are one of the items on the Annual Meeting agenda, and a recommendation was made to hold the line at 1993 rates for another year. This will be brought before the Annual Meeting for ratification.

The Chamber has lost one member of the present executive. Secretary Gord Henry submitted his resignation at the January 5 meeting, as he is being transferred to Lloydminster January 15. He introduced Lang Ellison, who will take over as manager of the Elk Point Toronto Dominion Bank. Ellis is a former Barrhead resident, and was in charge of agricultural loans at that branch.

The Chamber has been invited, along with numerous other groups and organizations, to incorporate the International Year of the Family theme in their 1994 activities. President Crane noted that these could include the Canada Day Pancake Breakfast, and a proposed Farmers Day promotion. It was noted that Family Day itself has now been confirmed as a provincial holiday on Monday, February 21.

Tourism Committee co-chairperson Vicki Brooker will represent the Chamber at the Lakeland Tourist Association Annual General Meeting in Lac La Biche on January 22. The Chamber is currently deciding whether or not to join the LTA.

President Crane announced that Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre has had its operating budget approved for the coming year, and has a number of programs planned. The Centre will be the site of an upcoming course on Heritage Tourism, to be presented by Lakeland College, which has participants coming from across the province.

Sid Holthe reported on the Interagency Committee meeting. The Community Events subcommittee is endeavoring to coordinate activities through the Town Office. Among the events coming up in the next few months are a Farm Bookkeeping course in Elk Point February 9 and 10, Volunteer Week from March 18, Ruralize Conference on volunteerism April 7 in St. Paul, Town and Country Women's Conference April 12 in St. Paul, the FCSS Conference in Elk Point, April 15 and 16, and Fitweek, April 30 to May 3.

Kolette Taber of Northern Lights Library System reported that the System has recently hired two workers on the ACE program and four under a job creation program. The System's computerization has run into difficulties, but should be underway later this month.

The Chamber's next meeting will be January 19 at the Hilltop.

FLYERS A - SIDE RUNNERS-UP - Elk Point Barefoot 5 Flyers came second in the 'A' side of the eight team Novice Hockey Tournament they hosted this past weekend. Goals in the hard fought final game came from Carson Mutch, Colton Hoffman and Mark Ference, while Curtis Salt, Melvin Easthope, Kevin Moneta and T. C. Quinney provided the assists. The Flyers lost by a single point to Lloydminster. More tournament pictures on Page 6.

Town, County discuss concerns

Council members, administrators and public works officials from the Town of Elk Point and the County of St. Paul No. 19 met in Elk Point last Thursday night to discuss matters of mutual concern, including the deteriorating Community Services building, the landfill, fire protection and airport operation.

The meeting was held in the Community Services building, and both groups agreed that the facility would need numerous repairs if a long period of use was anticipated. The County is not willing to sell or trade the property, as it may be needed for future school expansion, and this makes it unfeasible for the Town to spend large sums of taxpayers' money on repairing the building. One estimate for roof replacement alone stood at $150,000.

The Town has looked at various alternatives, including utilizing empty classrooms in the local schools, and becoming a part of an expansion project at F. G. Miller High School. However, no classrooms are now available, and education funding cut-backs make imminent expansion of the school unlikely.

The Town has come to a point that "if we don't own the building [so repairs could be justified to the ratepayers] we will have to find other accommodation" for the offices and programs currently housed in the building, Mayor Ed Buck said. He told County Council that the groups involved want rooms of their own, so equipment and materials can be left in place from session to session, and explained that the groups pay rental fees, with the Town picking up the deficit.

Both Town and County representatives studied the existing Landfill agreement, and discussed a number of matters pertaining to the site, including maintenance of the road around the pit, costs involved in moving material dumped outside the pit, and access to the landfill on other than the days the site is manned. Mayor Buck told

Country concert coming

Elk Point Agricultural Society has found a way to put the 'fun' in fundraising - by inviting big name talent to town for a concert. Patricia Conroy, with her big hit song

"Bad Day For Trains," and One Horse Blue, who were among the super entertainment at last summer's Riel Beach Jamboree, are headlining a concert in the Fair Grounds Arena on Friday, January 21. St. Paul's hottest new band, 52nd Street, will be opening the show.

Reeve Dwayne Lindberg and his council that "the real issue is the keys. If the Town maintains the site, we feel we should handle the key, rather than people hauling in stuff with keys given them by the County."

Very few keys have been given out, according to Agricultural Fieldman Dennis Bergheim, and the County has a list of those who do have keys. Keys are normally returned to the County office after use, he noted, and some people who have asked for keys have been turned down.

The keys themselves are less of a problem than the garbage that is dumped at the top of the pit and left for the Town crew to move into the pit. One disposal contractor has been sent a letter by the County to request that they stop dumping at the top, but that party has apparently reverted to dumping outside the pit. Also, the material is supposed to be sorted, and has been coming in as mixed loads.

Another concern is the amount of construction debris being hauled in, which cannot be compacted satisfactorily and which will fill the pit too quickly. The Councils agreed that it may be necessary to ask demolition contractors to find another site for disposal of this material.

Metal and tires are two of the materials separated out of the refuse. There is currently no reclamation market for the tires, and both groups feel they could present a fire hazard. They will send a joint letter to the government asking for guidance in the matter. A way of disposing of the metal is also needed.

Further discussion of the landfill problems was delegated to Town Public Works Superintendent Ron Fraess, his County counterpart Pete Yarmuch and Fieldman Dennis Bergheim.

Fire protection was the third matter on the evening's agenda. The Town of Elk Point pays the Volunteer Fire Department members an honorarium for attending the weekly practices, as well as an hourly wage for fighting fires occurring within Town limits, while the County pays wages to a maximum of six firefighters for the hours they spend at fires in the County. Mayor Buck suggested that the County might like to share the cost of the practice honoraria, but Reeve Lindberg disagreed, saying that Elk Point is already "the most expensive fire department we've got."

A suggestion was made that perhaps there were too many volunteers on the fire department roster, but Buck made it clear that even with more than twenty men, it is sometimes difficult to find sufficient firefighters to attend daytime fires. Many of the firefighters work in the oil patch and are out of town in the daytime. County Councilor Frank Schwengler noted that Mallaig and Ashmont have several farmers on their fire rosters. A need for training, and problems with firefighters getting time off from work to attend courses, was noted.

Elk Point's new rescue van was purchased with equal grants from Town and County, as well as a sizeable government grant. Mayor Buck feels the van is used much more for out of town fires and accidents, and suggested that this be kept in mind when it comes time to replace the unit some years in the future. "We will do our share," Reeve Lindberg assured him.

Mayor Buck then offered a brief explanation of the new cost County residents will be faced with when renewing their Elk Point Municipal Library card this year. The additional sum, of $10 per adult or $30 per family in addition to the normal library membership fee, goes directly to the Northern Lights Library System, and is charged to the residents of every municipality that does not belong to the System. Buck assured County Council that none of these funds go into local library coffers.

Elk Point Airport was the final item on the agenda. The Airport Commission, which has members from both Town and County Councils as well as members at large from both jurisdictions, has determined it is cheaper to contract out grass cutting at the airport than to have either Town or County crews do it. Other maintenance, which is overseen by the Commission, was discussed, with mention made that it is sometimes difficult for the airport caretaker to reach Commission members to report needed emergency maintenance such as burned out lights. It was agreed that in this case, the caretaker could notify Town Office. A list of items which constitute 'emergency maintenance' is to be drawn up at the next Commission meeting.

FORGET THE MAGIC WAND!

Forget the magic wand! What it takes to create a strong step family is time and attention. What bonds any family together is shared positive experiences. This requires conscious attention. Time will take care of things but you have to help it.

Some tips:

- Take things slowly. Sudden change is hard for anybody so don't rush the process at any stage of forming a step family. And that includes when you start dating someone.
- The older the children are, the longer it will take to make the adjustment.

- Stepparents tend to come in too fast and too strong. Hold back and let the children approach you.

- Make sure you create one-on-one time for everybody in the family.

- Always be prepared to talk any issue out. Including kids in working out solutions and in family meetings can help.

- Talk to others about what's happening, read, attend workshops. Don't think you have to have all the answers.

Whether you are now part of a blended (step) family, if you will be forming one in the future or if you are a single parent ... this workshop is for you. Join us on January 26 for practical discussion and information on stress and coping skills involved in single parent and blended family situations.

Join facilitators Elizabeth Duke and Doug Hilton on Wednesday, January 26 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the Further Education Centre. Registration cost is $2.50. To register or for more information call 724-3800 (Community Services) or 724-4101 (Further Education).

HOLD OUT AT TAX TIME -- BE A VOLUNTEER

Community Services is working in cooperation with Revenue Canada to recruit and train volunteers to assist people in completing their tax returns - people who need a helping hand.

Your helping hand is needed. Volunteers provide a vital community service:

- to low income earners who cannot afford to pay a fee for simple tax help;
- to the disabled who may be unable to travel for assistance;
- to immigrants and new Canadians who may not understand English or French; and

- to the elderly, whose circumstances may limit the understanding of tax forms.

In Elk Point there are people who, for one reason or another, may not be able to fill out their tax return. You can lend a hand by attending a volunteer workshop and learn how to complete straight forward tax returns. The free workshop will be held on Wednesday, February 9, 1994. Reference materials and ongoing assistance will be provided. What's more, you will then be able to reach out and help your neighbors. This project is being coordinated by Community Services and all names and information will be kept strictly confidential.

To join the volunteer team or for more information call Community Services at 724-3800.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Some social observers have already dubbed the 1990's as the "We Decade". In place of materialism, many are embracing simpler pleasures and values. They've been thinking hard about what really matters in their lives, and they've decided to make changes. What matters is having time for family and friends, rest and recreation, good deeds and spirituality. The phenomenon is crossing all social lines.

The heart of the matter

Families are in the spotlight for this year's international observation by the United Nations, who have brought us, in the past, the Year of the Child, the Year of Literacy, the Year of Indigenous People and other twelve month long observances which brought worthwhile topics into world wide focus.

And what could be more worthwhile than families?

The family, in its many definitions, is considered to be the basic unit of society. As such, it may be a surprise to some people that it is necessary to commemorate its importance, but unfortunately, the need to do so is great.

Several decades ago, commemorating the family would have been somewhat redundant. Families, many of them encompassing three or more generations, were of the utmost importance. Families worked together to settle the country, went to church together, celebrated special occasions together, and enjoyed the company of other family members in what little leisure time could be spared from more pressing duties.

However, since then, families have lost their cohesion, as work and careers - now often two to a family - became more important and economically necessary, as more opportunities for recreation and sports activities abounded, and as aging parents were relegated to seniors homes and preschoolers to day care facilities. Problems such as substance abuse and violence have grown astronomically, and parents are often perplexed about how best to raise children in the midst of these circumstances.

Families today are often people who meet briefly at breakfast, and again at supper, before rushing off to meetings, courses, sports events or other pursuits. It isn't that they don't love each other, it's just that there aren't enough hours in the day or week to let the love show. Extended families may meet only once or twice a year for special occasions, such as a wedding or Christmas.

Careers, recreational facilities, seniors homes and day care all have an important place in today's world - in fact, it would be difficult to get along without them. However, we must not forget the important place that families have in our lives, and our hearts.

In this International Year of the Family, let us bring back the warmth of multi-generational relationships, the simple enjoyment of spending time with the other members of the immediate family, and the comfort of knowing that the family is there for you when you need them.

Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre has been acknowledged by the Rupert's Land Historical Society for the Fur Trade and Native Interpretive programs. I have been asked to present a paper on the site and the development of the programs at the annual conference in May. This is quite an honor for the site. The conference will be in Edmonton and has speakers from across Canada, England and the Orkney Islands.

School groups are still coming through the site and we need volunteers for February 1 for a group of 100 from Lac La Biche. Please call 724-2611 if you can spare a couple of hours.

Financial Planning for Retirement

Securing your future means starting now

J. Lang Ellison

BComm. Manager, Elk Point Toronto Dominion Bank

Financial planning has taken on a new urgency in Canada, as more and more people realize that maintaining a comfortable lifestyle in retirement will depend on their own individual resources.

This is largely due to demographic trends: the general population is getting older; the ranks of retirees are expanding rapidly; Canada's huge "baby boomer" generation is now facing retirement within the next twenty years; and a growing proportion of people are retiring younger and living longer than previous generations.

These demographic trends mean that retirees will need more income for a longer period - at a time when government resources are dwindling. High government debts and deficits are limiting governments' abilities to provide assistance to the elderly at a time when tax burdens and health care costs are likely to rise.

That means that it's more important than ever to plan an investment and savings program - and to set it in motion as early as possible.

Ideally, people start in their twenties, making the maximum RRSP and pension contributions, and invest a major portion of their funds in a broadly diversified portfolio of equities for the long term growth potential. Over the next forty years, they should shift the balance of the portfolio to lower risk income bearing investments, such as bonds, money market funds, and GICs. Leading financial institutions now offer a full and competitive range of savings and investment products and mutual funds to fit into every conceivable plan.

There is no sure fire formula for a successful financial plan - it varies from individual to individual, and depends on your personal means and needs. Regardless of your current circumstances, it pays to talk to a qualified investment counsellor or financial advisor - to develop a plan that is right for you. With RRSP season approaching, it makes sense to get underway now: ask your banker to refer you to an investment counsellor - and feel free to call TD's Green Infoline at 1-800-387-1500, if you need further information.

Interagency committee engaged in promoting the Year of the Family

The Elk Point and Region Interagency Committee, in cooperation with its counterpart in St. Paul is actively engaged in promoting this dynamic theme, the Family. On December 20, 1993, Mayor Ed Buck joined with this eager group to proclaim throughout Elk Point and Region, Councils support of International Year of the Family.

With this tremendous commitment, the interagency committee has contacted all the clubs and organizations in Elk Point, hoping to bring many more enthusiastic participants "on board". With the foundational ethic that the "family is the basic social unit" and is indeed "the heart of the matter". We encourage you to renew your commitment to the family.

Edgar A. Guest, the popular American poet, said, "It takes a heap of livin' to make a house a home. The Premier's council in support of Alberta families gives us some helpful principles to this ideal of "commitment to the family". They suggest that it starts with a dedication "to promoting each other's welfare and happiness" and "requires balancing obligations and investing in each other."

We encourage you to plan now to make time for your family members. One of the realities of life is that our activities expand to fill the available time. We often say then, "I don't have time". The truth is that we all have time - we have the same amount of time. How you fill that time is your choice. Proactive planning will help you "make time" for your family. Schedule it today. Words are worthless unless followed through with commitment. Time is also the "heart of the matter".

The family forum

Jim MacLellan

1994 is the "Year of the Family"! Each week I hope to engage in some interaction with you on this subject of the "family". Isn't it ironic that we have to celebrate a commitment to the "basic social unit of society". To me it's like having a special day to celebrate my stomach or some other vital organ. You can be sure that I seldom forget my commitment to my paunch. In fact, I treat it with a great deal of consideration.

Perhaps it's a comment on our society, that we should have to set aside one year to recognize the family. Have we entered into a certain state of anorexia in regard to this entity, the family! Perhaps we look into the mirror and fail to see the truth. The body that appears to be constantly growing is really starving for attention - or maybe it's dying!

What would you say is the greatest threat to the family? Well, you're probably right - but I said the greatest! I mean, what is it that is really the basic, philosophic and foundational threat to your family and mine? You know we probably haven't thought much about it. We've been so busy looking at all the symptoms: the economy, the moral state, etc., that we've missed the forest for the trees.

Let me tell you what I think is our greatest enemy (you knew I would, anyway!). The foundational assault on my family and yours is your ethic of individuality. We've been so busy fighting for 'individual rights and freedoms'. We forgot that the family, not the individual, is the "basic social unit". Stick with me, let me take you on this journey of individualism. Individualism is the father of collectivism. When everyone is the same - you have nothing! Now before you accuse me of discrimination, I did not say that everyone should not be treated with equal value. I said, "Everyone is not the same." I like what philosopher, C.S. Lewis says about this collectivism: "There is a fatal tendency in all human activities for the means to encroach upon the very ends which they were intended to serve. Thus money comes to hinder the exchange of commodities, and rules of art to hamper genius, and examinations to prevent young men from becoming learned." It is sad that the very government that we intend to be the 'means' to enhance the family, is encroaching on it with destructive eyes. Its weapon is egalitarianism.

The society that treats everyone the same replies to the ethic called egalitarianism. (No I won't define it - you look it up!) Let me give you an example of how egalitarianism is expressed in our society: "In Canada ... an individual may qualify for welfare regardless of how wealthy his or her immediate family or relatives may be increasingly, our courts grant the social and legal privileges of "spouse" to individuals who refuse to make a permanent commitment to each other, to their children, or in the case of homosexual "spouses", to societies procreational project. Married couples with children are generally taxed at a much higher rate than comparable unmarried couples. And Canada is awash with political radicals and interest groups, many of them subsidized by the State, for whom a cherished objective is the abolition of the traditional family" (- William D. Gairdner) increasingly, children are being treated at the same as (I said, "The same as ...") parents. Children are equal under the law, but not "the same as". Fathers are not the same as mothers! Equal? Yes! The same? No!

Now what purpose would anyone have to elevate the individual to an absurd level of equality? Answer: Control! To remove distinction is to remove true freedom of expression. A classless society is a society of suppression. The family is the best example of equality and distinctiveness, combined. The family is the classic arena where personal values are established: where personal skills are honed; where responsibility and accountability can be fostered. Remove the commitment to the family and you become a pawn of the state. The state loves to dispense welfare, for in welfare it can create dependents (its own children). The state loves to make all lifestyles equal for it can then create its own values. The State loves to make all sexes, all roles the same, then everyone becomes a clone.

I welcome your comments. If you all agree with me, the state has won. Next time, I hope to look at the very difficult problem of defining the family.

Elks to host SaskAlta League All Star game

Elk Point Elks won much more than just a 4 - 2 victory over Vermilion Senators in Elk Point last Friday night - they also won the right to host the Sask - Alta Hockey League's All Star Game on January 29, by leading the league at the mid point of the season. The All Star Game will pit the Elks against the top players from each of the other teams in the league. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Elks Coach Keith Campbell said the team is "happy to be given the opportunity to host the game. We played well and deserve to be there."

Friday's well attended game started off looking like a shoe-in for the Elks, who scored right off the opening faceoff, Lindsay Jenner hitting the mark off an assist by Layne Gauchier, and again a minute and fourteen seconds later, when Sheldon Cardinal scored off an assist by Cory Laboucane.

The Elks kept the Senators scoreless until the 16:16 mark of the period, when Vermilion's Dennis McCormack made an unassisted first goal. Their 2 - 1 margin held throughout a scoreless second period.

Elk Point regained a two goal lead with Layne Gauchier's goal early in the third period, off an assist by Greg Desaulniers, but the Senators made it 3 - 2 with 1:10 left in the game, captain D. Golinowski assisted by D. Rookes and L. Baddock, in a goal scored immediately after they pulled their goalie. The Senators were working diligently toward a tie until the Elks' Jon Olson scored unassisted into an empty net with 13 seconds remaining to clinch the win.

Midweek wins for Elks

Elks 10 - Monarchs 3

Elk Point Elks wound up 1993 with a 10-3 win over Kitscoty Monarchs on Tuesday, December 28 in Kitscoty.

Dwayne Karbaszewski's hat trick led the scoring, with Corey Laboucane and Layne Gauchier each contributing a pair, along with singles from Jon Olson, Greg Desaulniers and Mike Boratynec. Jon Olson and Terry Wozniak were credited with three assists each, with two apiece from Mike Boratynec and Corey Laboucane and one each from Tyson Stafford, Lindsay Jenner, Allan Loughran and Layne Gauchier. Don King scored all three Kitscoty goals, with assists by Dean Livingston, Todd Miller, Eugene Roberge, Darryl Graham and Shawn Benjamin.

Kitscoty took a 2-0 lead in the first ten minutes of play, with the Elks tying the score just after the two minute mark. Kitscoty's final goal came with 56 seconds to play, to give them their final lead of the game. The Monarchs held their lead for over half a period, but the Elks dominated the last 28 minutes of the game, bringing the score to 6-3 at the end of Period 2 and adding four more goals in the final period.

Elks 8 - Senators 6

Blair Halfe was the Elks' star in Wednesday night's 8 - 6 road trip victory over Vermilion Senators. Halfe scored one goal per period and helped prevent the Senators from taking a lead at any point in the game. Greg Desaulniers, Jon Olson, Mike Boratynec, Layne Gauchier and Sheldon Cardinal all scored singles, with Cardinal adding 4 assists, Corey Laboucane three assists, Boratynec two assists, Halfe, Gauchier, Desaulniers, Kerry Loughran and Jeff Buck one assist apiece.

The Elks started off the game with a trio of goals in the space of 62 seconds. Vermilion stayed scoreless until the last six seconds of the period, and added two early in the second to tie the game. Two more Elks goals, and one from the Senators, gave the Elks a 5 - 4 margin going into the final period, where the Senators tied the score after 51 seconds of play. An Elk Point goal 2½ minutes later was not answered for over half a period, and two more from the Elks left the visiting team the 8 - 6 victors.

What's News at the Library

Start the year with a smile

NEW LIBRARIAN - Michele Duczek.

Elk Point welcomes the new librarian

Elk Point Public Library is starting off the new year with a new librarian. Michele Duczek comes to Elk Point from Lloydminster, and is a 1993 graduate of the University of Alberta, with a Master of Library and Information Studies degree. She also has a Bachelor of History degree.

Ms Duczek has a longtime interest in libraries, and said her fourth grade teacher predicted she would become a librarian. "I knew my first week in library school that I had made the right choice."

After working in the Lloydminster library during the summer of 1992 and doing contract work and volunteer work for them since her graduation, Ms Duczek is really looking forward to her new job in Elk Point. "The chance to run a library is almost more than you can hope for." One of the reasons for her enthusiasm is that "there's always something different to do" which keeps the job interesting.

Not surprisingly, the new librarian is a dedicated reader, enjoying everything from Shakespeare and Dickens to science fiction. She also enjoys listening to music.

Michele Duczek

In Loving Memory John Bodnar

It's been five years since you left us. We, your family, miss you lots, and will never forget the happiness you brought to our lives, and the memories you have given us.

The sudden way you had to leave We shall always remember and wonder why

To know we never said goodbye The things we feel so deeply Are the hardest things to say; But we, your family, love you. In a very special way

They say that memories are golden;

Well that may be true But we never wanted memories We only wanted you.

If tears could build a stairway, and heartaches make a lane, We as your family, Would walk the path to heaven And bring you home again.

Sadly Missed - Love Mom & Alex and Family.

4-H Multi Club news

The Elk Point 4-H Multi Club celebrated its annual Christmas Party on December 12. We had a great time tobogganing, singing Christmas carols and preparing bird food decorations to be hung later on a tree at the hospital. Early in the afternoon, the 4-H members had the opportunity to participate in a hay ride provided by Mr. Bintz which we were gratefully thankful for. Instead of the planned Christmas exchange of gifts, 4-H members donated gifts to Santa's Anonymous. On December 17, the 4-H members went caroling after decorating the hospital trees. We went caroling at the hospital and at the lodge. Our next monthly member's meeting is scheduled on January 19 at 7:30 at the F.G. Miller Jr./Sr. High School. The 4-H members and leaders would like to extend a Happy and Prosperous New Year to everyone and especially to those who supported our club throughout the years.

NEAT things in Saskatoon

The North East Alberta Track Club got the year off with a running -- and flying -- start at the Knights of Columbus Indoor Track meet in Saskatoon Saturday.

NEAT came home with four gold medals, two silver and three bronze medals.

It appears 1994 might be as good as 1993 for Joni Matthews, which is bad news for midget girls in the long jump competition.

Matthews won the long jump in Saskatoon with a leap of 5.05 metres. But she was pushed at this meet.

She had to have a jump of more than 4.90 metres to win it on her last jump. She pulled it off.

"It was a case of her jumping to win, rather than just distance," NEAT coach Reg Green said. "Which is a little different for her."

Concert

Harms says that this is hopefully the first of four concerts scheduled this year, in partnership with LW Radio and Starburst Productions. Ticket response has been good so far, and a sellout crowd of 700 people is anticipated.

Elk Point may seem small to attract such prominent entertainers, but Harms said that "contrary to what you might think, Patricia Conroy and One Horse Blue are excited about coming here." A motor home is being brought in for use as a dressing room for Ms Conroy, who reportedly makes several costume changes during her performance.

Another plus for the event is that it will give one of the area's newer bands good exposure. "We're going to give them all a shot - this time, 52nd Street, next time Moose Mountain, and so on," Harms said.

Pioneer Circle Bingo

Pauline Chomlak $30, Lilian Palinka $30, Mary Waskahat $30, Marge Saranchuk $30, Harry Shankowski $30, Ed Piotrowski $30, Ronald Fryingpan $30, Florence Loreson $30, Kathy Zarowny $30, Pauline Paul $30, Irene Jacobson $8, Joe Yarmuch $8, Brian Paul $8, George Jacobson $8, Anton Zarowny $15, Teddy Matlock $15, Laurie Pelletier $30, Ed Piotrowski

When Matthews wasn't leaping into a sand pit, she was competing in the 300 metres, where she also took home a gold medal.

The long jump pit was a hot spot for NEAT as Louise Robert, from Bonnyville took home the gold medal in the bantam girls' long jump. She also finished second in the 300 metres.

Calvin Coulombe, also from Bonnyville, had NEAT's fourth gold medal thanks to his performance in the invenile boys' 600 metres. He also finished second in the 300 metres.

St. Paul's Glen Cherniwan was able to win a bronze medal in the juvenile boys' shot put, despite the fact he was suffering from an injury he sustained while competing in the 4x400-metre relay.

Clinton Lapatack, from Saddle Lake, continued to show his potential by finishing third in the midget boys' 1,000 metres.

NEAT's other medal winner was Nathan Brown, from Dewberry, who finished third in the midget boys' 60-metre hurdles.

Mallaig's Esther Medema also turned in a strong performance in Saskatoon.

She won three gold medals and a bronze in the five events she entered despite battling a chest cold.

Medema won the senior ladies 60 metres in a time of 7.75 seconds, a personal best.

She also won the 60 metre hurdles in a time of 8.83 seconds. She also finished first in the long jump, leaping 5.57 metres.

Medema was third in the high jump at 1.60 metres and her put of 11.43 metres was good for fourth place in the shot put.

"I was pleased with my running, that's the best I've ran indoors," Medema said. "But my jumping didn't go well. I was a little below average."

Learn, grow at playschool

The Jack and Jill Playschool offers a learning-growing experience through play within a suitable environment for healthy growth and development. The socialization of the child in its peer group is the key focus point of our program at Jack and Jill Playschool.

Socialization is the general process by which the individual becomes a member of a social group. This includes learning all the attitudes, beliefs, customs, values, roles and expectations of the social group. It is a lifelong process that helps the individuals live comfortably and participate fully in their society.

We achieve this at Playschool by setting up a learning-exploring environment so that children can test the boundaries of the environment. They also see the desired behaviour being modelled for them by the parent helpers and teacher of the class. This is how they will learn appropriate behaviour for situations like how to deal with confrontation or frustration at not being able to have their way.

The most important skill that a three or four year old can have is the ability to cooperate with a group structure toward a common goal. To adults this might seem like a small feat but it is an enormous concept to an individual that only sees the world one way, through their own eyes. But once the child is comfortable with this concept, he or she is open to a totally new environment of learning and developing. The child can then begin to see the world through another's eyes and appreciate the differences that help make this world a richer place for us all.

There are still a few spots available in the afternoon Playschool class (Tuesdays and Thursdays from 12:30 to 3:00) Call 724-3800 if you wish to enroll your child in this program.
